Paris, 10—Michael Chevreul, the celebrated chemist, member of the Institute, died yesterday evening at the advanced age of 103 years.

A State funeral will be accorded him, which will be attended by delegates from all the associations of science and education in France.

Berlin, 10—The Prussian War Minister, has resigned. The Military Governor of Strasburg has been named to replace him.

THE LORD LIEUTENANT WISHES TO RESIGN

BANKRUPTCY OF TWO LORDS

BOULANGER ON THE SITUATION

HOME RULE IN THE HOUSE.

DISTURBANCES IN THE CHAMBER.

DILLON AND ROCHEFORT "WANTED"

London, 9—The St. James Gazette states that the Marquis of Londonderry is anxious to resign his post as Lord lieutenant of Ireland on the ground of ill-health.

Lord Francis Crelion and the Marquis of Exeter have been declared bankrupt. Their liabilities amount to £2,100,000.

Paris, 9—Dillon and Rochefort appear to have been caught in the trap laid for Boulanger. The General has stated in Brussels that it would be folly for him to appear before the Senate. He would willingly consent to be tried by ordinary judges but he would never allow himself to be tried by his political enemies. He promises to return after the October elections, in which he is certain to win 70 departments. He says that France had no wish to exile him.

Berlin, 9th—Laurer, the Emperor's doctor, is dead.

London, 10th—The "St. James Gazette" says that Mr. W. H. Smith will give up the leadership of his party in the lower house to take his seat in the House of Lords.

Mr. Clark's motion on Home Rule for Ireland last night was thrown out by 200 against 79. Mr. Gladstone was opposed to the measure, because he did not consider the moment ripe, although he was determined to oppose more important steps.

Paris, 10th—Yesterday the Deputies discussed the legality of the Senate assuming the responsibility of arranging Boulanger, Delafosse was most violent, and the greatest disorder prevailed, insults flying right and left. Delafosse maintained that Boulanger should be tried by ordinary courts. A motion that a ⅔ majority would suffice to render valid the sentences against Boulanger was thrown out.

Orders have been issued for the arrest of Dillon and Rochefort.

Brussels, 10—The Belgian Government has notified Boulanger that he must cause no political agitation, otherwise he must be expelled from Belgian territory.

QUEER RUMORS OF REVOLUTION

DEATH OF MR WILLIAM HARLEY ON BOARD LA PLATA

DEATH OF MRS. BRELAZ

(From our special correspondent.)

Montevideo, 10th.

National Bank shares 167; Obras 70.

All sorts of queer rumors were circulated to-day; the minister of War had resigned, a revolution was going to break out etc. I am authorized to state these reports are false, but complications may arise. For the present nothing is to be feared.

A telegram from Rio announces the death from yellow fever of Mr. William Harley, who sailed from here in the La Plata. A second telegram confirms news, but states health on board good. On arrival at Rio, it is strange that Mr. Harley himself telegraphed all well. Death must have been sudden.

Mrs. Brelaz died of typoid fever to-day, Her son died the other day, and her eldest daughter is very seriously ill.

Number 7294 won the 50,000 dollars prize to-day.

THE CRASH IN PARIS.

BRITISH TRADE IN 1888

Antibes, March 11.

The suicide of Mr. Denfort, director of the Comptoir d'Escompte, last Wednesday, was followed by a "run" on that bank which reminds one of the Overend Gurney business of 1866 in London. The Comptoir is well known in Buenos Ayres for its dealings in Argentine loans, and had a great position not only in France but also in the East, especially India. Such was the magnitude of its operations that its 'turn-over' in 1888 exceeded 400 millions sterling, and only a month ago it declared a dividend of 10 per cent for the past year. In an evil hour the directors went into the Copper Swindle along with many great financiers, the names of Rothschild and others being spoken of in this matter. It seems the Comptoir has endorsed and guaranteed the contracts of the Societe des Metaux, alias Copper Swindle, the purpose of which was to get possession of all the copper produced in the world till 1892, and exact enormous prices. At first the plot succeeded, the price rising from £45 in 1887 to £85 last year, but this had such effect on manufacturers that they held back, with the hope that the Syndicate of Parisian sharpers would be forced to succumb. Meantime the Comptoir d'Escompte had to assume great obligations in order to save the Syndicate or societe, copper coming in very rapidly and the stocks on hand rising as the demand fell off. This was the immediate cause of Denfort's suicide.

The copper yield of the world is about 150,000 tons yearly, and the contracts made by the syndicate averaged £50 a ton, say 7½ millions sterling, or 30 millions until 1892. If the sharpers had been content with a profit of 20 per cent, retailing the copper at £60 per ton, it is likely they would have completely succeeded. But their extreme greed in requiring 90 per cent profit was the cause of their shipwreck. It is extremely to be regretted that there is no means of punishing persons concerned in gigantic conspiracies of this nature against the public welfare. If the copper speculation had succeeded we should perhaps have seen a similer move in cotton, wheat &c., as already tried in the U. States with signal failure.

In two days the Comptoir paid out to its depositors no less than £1,100,000 sterling, and on the third day in order to check the panic a false balance-sheet, says the Standard of London, was issued, but without result. The liabilities were supposed to exceed seven millions sterling, and the "run" continuing all the banks in Paris were alarmed. In this emergency the Minister Rouvier asked the Bank of France to help its erring brother, but as the securities offered were mostly copper certificates the Bank refused. Min. Rouvier called all the bank-managers of Paris together, and at 2 o'clock in the morning (entre gallos y media noche) a collective guarantee for £800,000 was signed by Rothschild and the rest, on the strength of which the Bank of France agreed to open a credit amounting to 4 millions sterling. It is hoped that this may put off the "mauvais quart d' heure," and the "run" on Saturday was said to be less.

Moreover, the Comptoir proposes to let out the copper on hand at a reduced price, say £55 to 60 per ton, but even at this price it may not be so easily disposed of, as the manufacturing public expect a great fall consequent on the present crash. The contracts, meantime, are a mill-stone round the Comptoir's neck, as it must buy at the agreed price. If the Comptoir become bankrupt it will not cause serious loss to the public, but rather to Bourse speculators and loan-mongers, provided the depositors get all their money, as now appears likely. But who is to recoup the Bank of France for its advances beyond the £800,000 guaranteed by the bankers?

The returns of last year may be summed up in a few lines and compared with those of previous years, the following table shewing the total amount of imports and exports exchanged between the U. Kingdom and other countries:—

	Millions £.
	1860.	1870.	1880.	1888.
Colonies.....	89	120	174	171
U. States.....	68	81	145	108
France.....	31	60	71	54
S. America...	20	38	34	42
Other countries.....	167	249	274	245
Total...	375	548	698	620

Our trade, as measured by value, shows a great decline with all countries except the Colonies and South America. As regards the Colonies it is almost stationary since 1880, while the trade with S. America has risen 24 per cent. But it must be observed that the change of prices since 1880 is the greatest recorded in history, the value of 20 shillings in 1888 being equal to that of 25 shillings in 1880; in other words, prices all round have fallen 20 per cent in eight years. If there had been no change the trade of 1888 would have represented a value of 775 millions sterling, an increase of 10 per cent on 1880 and nearly 50 per cent. on 1870.

As regards the balance of trade last year we find that it stands thus:

	Million £ Imports.	Million £ Exports.	Surplus Imports
Colonies.....	37	34	3
U. States.....	79	29	50
France.....	39	15	24
S. America...	16	26
Other countries.....	166	80	76
Total.....	387	234	153

The balance of trade is, of course, more imaginary than real. For example, a ship clears from Cardiff with a cargo of coal, value £1,000, for India, where the coals are sold for £1,500. The ship takes in that amount in value in wheat, which on arrival in England is estimated in the Customs books at £1,700. There is an apparent balance of £700 against England, or 70 per cent on the value exported from Cardiff; but in reality there is no balance at all. Prosperous countries always seem to have a balance of trade against them, but it is a delusion. The United Kingdom last year had an adverse balance of this description, as shown above, equal to 153 millions, or 66 per cent over exports. This has been going on for forty years, and the wealth of the country increasing year by year.

Feeling, as I do, a great interest in the Argentine Republic, it pains me to see exports exceed imports, for it shows an outflow of wealth. As soon as the reverse takes place you may be sure the country is in a better way. It is idle, if not iniquitous, to stimulate either exports or imports. Let trade flow in easy channels, and it will find its level like water. There are many people, indeed, in England who honestly believe that trade is depressed and that the above figures are disastrous. There is, no doubt, a depression of price, which affects both imports and exports, but this is far from causing any loss to merchants or manufacturers. The trade of England was never sounder or more prosperous than in the year which has just come to a close.

MDME. PATTI'S DEBUT.

LA TRAVIATA'

The prospect of listening to the sweet and unrivalled voice of Mdme. Patti was too great for the inclement weather, and in spite of the rain, the mud and the cold the vast hall of the Politeama was crowded. As a rule a gentle shower from heaven, or even a bleak and dreary evening, is quite sufficient to medicine the most enthusiastic play-goer to disappointment. But Mdme. Patti's debut was no ordinary event. The recollections of her artistic triumphs last year are still fresh, and those who in the past season heard her in her farewell and most exquisite opera, were determined to renew the delightful sensations of that never-to-be-forgotten night. As the evening advanced and the cold grew more intense, the carriages of our "haute volee" began to crowd around the theatre. The shouts of coachmen and policemen, the bustle of the crowd, and the noise which everywhere prevailed indicated clearly enough that Buenos Ayres was determined to hear Mdme. Patti. Rows of carriages lined the streets, and the multitude kept pouring into the theatre, which now presents a rejuvenated appearance. The old-fashioned chairs of last year have disappeared. Comfortable "fauteuils" fill their place, and seated in one of these luxurious arm-chairs the spectator felt inclined to lend his ear to the melody of Verdi's genius. Inside it was warm. The house was packed, though not overcrowded, in fact, in the words of the poet, "without o'erflowing full". Sharp at half-past eight the curtain rose; but before we glance at the stage, we shall pause for a moment to examine the "drop". Some clever painter has been at work, for the Custom House has been admirably reproduced, and the symbolic figures are not unworthy of notice. We hail this new departure, for we are convinced that a sketch of the Custom House is in every way superior to the "clich" of any wine merchant or tailor.

When the curtain rose, the most profound silence prevailed. Soon Mdme. Patti made her appearance and was enthusiastically received. She looks ten years younger than last year, and her voice seems during her absence to have gathered all the freshness of eight years ago. Mdme. Patti will always be a favorite in Buenos Ayres. The charms of her person and the unrivalled freshness and beauty of her voice, over which she appears to have the most complete control, have won for her the affection of the whole city. As Violeta she is superb. Her acting was perfect, her voice was perfect, her dress was perfect. She was, in a word, the perfect incarnation of the role. Every other figure faded into insignificance and failed to attract the slightest notice. The tenor is evidently young and inexperienced. His voice lacks the schooling and the modulation which characterized Stagno. Nevertheless, he went through his part courageously. We had, however, looked for another Alfredo to to sing with so incomparable a Violetta, some sweeter and more schooled voice to harmonise with the sublime notes of the Queen of Song. Not all the genius of a Verdi could fill the gap.

With regard to the opera itself, the sublime and unrivalled melody of the first act will ever fan the spark which keeps Traviata alive. In the first act the genius of Verdi seems to have concentrated all its strength. Aria follows aria in quick succession, beginning with the never-dying drinking song. It is a pity that the other acts have suffered through the enthusiasm of the composer for the first. Nevertheless, one sweet strain runs through the whole opera, and we must compliment the orchestra on the perfection of its execution. The thin, sweet notes of the violins in the dying scene of the last act brought down a shower of applause, and the "chef" was well cheered by the unruly "gods." However beautiful the music, however interesting the plot of Traviata, we nevertheless prefer to hear Mdme. Patti as Rosina in the Barber, which is her opera par excellence,' or as Semiramis, in which role she can command the admiration of the whole world. In Traviata, on Tuesday night, there was something wanting. She was not properly supported, and this, no doubt, accounts for the lack of enthusiasm on the occasion of her debut. In her role Mdme Patti was faultless, but the tenor was too young for so difficult a part as that of Alfredo. The baritone was excellent, the chorus well-up to the mark, though somewhat loud, and in some parts unruly. This failing will doubtless disappear as the season advances.

On the whole, Mdme. Patti's debut may be regarded as an event, and we cannot praise Mr. Cicchi too much for having secured the Queen of Song for Buenos Ayres. He has been untiring in his efforts to cater for the musical taste of the Athens of the South, and it is pleasing to see him supported by the public with so much warmth. He has fitted up the Politeama in the most comfortable manner, and every convenience is placed at the disposal of the public. We are glad, therefore, that the season has opened with such bright prospects of success.

The Galileo's Mails.

London, March 15.

In the House of Lords yesterday, Lord Elphinstone read a telegram which the Government had received from Malta stating that H.M.S. Sultan had been forced off the rock by a heavy north-east gale, and had sunk. Our Malta Correspondent also telegraphs that the vessel sank at a quarter to twelve.

In the House of Commons a number of questions were asked respecting the threatened evictions on the Ponsonby estate, and the prison treatment of Mr. O'Brien. On the latter subject Mr. Balfour, challenged by Mr. Sexton, declined to consent by a Committee of the House or to a public inquiry on oath. Mr. Duff, on the order of the day for going into Committee of Supply on the Navy Estimates, moved an amendment declaring that the Admiralty ought to assume the entire responsibility of providing guns and ordnance stores for the naval service, and that private trade for the supply of guns should be more largely resorted to. The amendment was ultimately defeated, and the House went into Committee.

In Dublin yesterday leave was granted The Freeman's Journal as defendants in a libel action to subpœna a London solicitor in whose presence Thomas O'Connor, a witness before the Parnell Commission, is said to have made an affidavit retracting his evidence. It was decided to take the evidence of Mr. Henry Cunynghame and the official notetaker by affidavit, and dispense with personal attendance.

Additional evidence was given before Lord Dunraven's Committee of the House of Lords yesterday as to the deplorable results of sweating in the nail and chain trades. A dog chain was shown which is sold in London for 1s. 3d., and it was stated that the material cost 2d., and the making 2d.

At Kempton Park yesterday the Sunbury Hurdle Handicap was won by Rotherham, the Selling Hunters' Flat Race by Aramis, the Selling Open Hurdle Race Plate by What Not, the Qualifying Hunters' Steeplechase by Twilight, the Strawberry Hill Hunters' Hurdle Plate by Old Tatt, and the Stewards' Steeplechase Handicap Plate by Forest King.

Paris March 14.

The famous tenor Signor Enrico Tamberlik has more than once been reported dead, the last time being in 1883, when he placed on record the huge delight he experienced in reading so many flattering obituary notices of himself. He was then, and has indeed since is retirement been living at Madrid, where he carried on a successful business as a gunmaker. Born at Rome in 1820, Tamberlik studied as a youth at the ecclesiastical seminary, but after a time, impelled by an irresistible inclination, he abandoned theology for music, took lessons from Guglielmi and Borgna, and came out at Naples as Romeo in Bellini's "I Capuletti." He achieved great success in Italy, Spain, and Portugal, and in 1850 he made his first appearance in London at the Royal Italian Opera. He sang in England every season save one till 1864, and he reappeared in 1870, and at Her Majesty's Theatre in 1877. Tamberlik was at his best in heroic parts such as Arnold, Robert le Diable, Raoûl, John of Leyden and Otello. But his repertory was a large one, and he has appeared in London in such widely diversified characters as Florestan in "Fidelio," Phaon in "Saffo," Benvenuto Cellini, Peter the Great, Zampa, and Ugo in Spohr's "Fausto." He was the original Faust at the first performance of M. Gounod's opera at Covent Garden after its production at Her Majesty's. Tamberlik had a handsome stage presence, and was a fine actor. His vocal style was marred by a very pronounced tremolo, but in his prime he had a magnificent voice, of extremely wide compass, his delivery of the C in alt from the chest always winning for him the enthusiastic applause of the opera goers of the period. Tamberlik last appeared on the stage in 1884 at Madrid, but although he delivered his famous ut de poitrine with all his old force, he decided to retire into private life and to devote all his energies to his small-arms factory.

ONE RESULT OF THE WAR ON SILVER.

We have not believed that the labors of the British Royal Currency Commission could have any practical results, especially in view of the division of opinion among its members, and we think that nearly everyone here in Mexico will be most happily surprised if anything beneficial as regards the white metal accrues from the work of the Commission. Our opinion, shared by the most important journals here, has also been that of the more influential newspapers of England and the United States, and it is, therefore, with some degree of surprise that we find the Financial News of London taking a more hopeful view. Our translantic contemporary asserts that the Currency Commission has not sown its seed wholly on stony ground, and that in the minds of many business men the seed has fallen on good ground and will bear fruit. The News believes that the British Parliament will, very soon, be compelled to address its efforts to remedying the terribly strained condition of Indian finances. "The Government of India," says our contemporary, "has submitted to the Commission a case so strong and urgent that if there be any real statesmanship left at Westminster it must be met and answered. The past fifteen years of gold famine have done almost as much harm in India as fifteen years of potato famine in Ireland. It has not, indeed, sacrificed human life; but it has perpetrated untold havoc to property and to commercial values. On the public revenues alone it has caused a depreciation amounting to scores of millions sterling. Year by year the strain on the Indian Treasury of a falling exchange becomes more severe, and the next Budget is likely to be worse in that respect than anything which has gone before. The Indian Finance Minister estimated that the Council would be able to draw this year on an average at 1s. 5¾d per rupee. At an early period in the financial year the drawings were being made at 1s. 4¼d. per rupee, and, notwithstanding the rally in silver which afterwards took place, the rate is still very little better."

It is clear that the monometallists of Great Britain, in their zeal to bring silver into the utmost possible discredit, have not sufficiently taken into consideration the fact that their policy was certain, sooner or later, to injure the commerce and finances of the British Possessions. The interests of the Indian Empire, with 250,000,000 inhabitans, have systematically been sacrificed to those of less than 40,000,000 people in the British Islands, and to such an extent has the insidious attack on Indian finances gone, and so fiercely has the fight against silver been waged, that to-day the Viceregal Government finds itself seriously embarrassed by the continued depreciation of the metal which is the medium of exchanges in that vast and densely populated country. The Financial News pertinently adds:

"For India the question lies in a nutshell—whether its silver currency is to be rehabilitated by the use of a few commonsense remedies, or is to be allowed to drift onward to utter demoralization. To us rehabilitation seems to be the only imaginable alternative. It would be an insult to the practical sense of the nation were any other issue deemed possible. Silver can be rehabilitated to a certain extent, if not altogether. All the Royal Commissioners appear to have been of one mind on that point; they differed only as to degree. But the smallest measure of rehabilitation conceded by the most conservative Commissioner would be a great boon, if it could be only brought about. Even such a trumpery relief as the issue of small notes based on silver would have an immediate effect on the silver market. The achievement of an international convention for enlarging the mintage of silver might be worth to it a rise of sixpence per ounce in price.

"The very least that can be done toward readjusting the relative values of gold and silver would enormously strengthen the position of the depreciated metal. It would mean the turning of the tide in its favour, and from that a great deal more would follow. Silver, instead of being tabooed as a commodity, and going steadily down hill, would be counted as a rising sun. Speculators would hasten to lay in piles of it for an advance; all the mints would be competing for fresh supplies of it; silver manufacturers, who have hitherto been buying their raw material from hand to mouth, would quickly resume keeping stocks; the moral tone of the market would be changed from 'persistent depression to hopefulness. That such a transformation is not far off we confidently believe. The silver ball has only to be touched skilfully in order to set it rolling up hill again. Whether the iniative is going to be taken in the City or at Westminster must soon be seen."—Mexican Financier.

RAILWAY EXPENSES—DERAILMENTS ON THE CENTRAL NORTHERN AND CENTRAL ARGENTINE—DEPARTURE OF ENGINEER SEUROT

The Chief of the Engineers' Department has applied to the Home Office for the approval of the statement of the expenses involved in extra work in drawing up the plans of the railway from San San Juan to Jachal. This concession belongs to Messrs. Sanchez, Igarzabal and Co.

The Board of Public Works has notified Messrs. Lucas Gonzalez & Co. that they must pay $20,000 for cost of inspecting the Central Northern and extensions, which are being constructed at the cost of the State.

Traffic was suspended last week between kil. 8 and 10 of the Central Northern Extension, owing to the derailment of a wagon. It appears the line was seriously injured.

Inspector Dix's report on the recent derailment on the Central Argentine at kil. 312, has been forwarded to the Home Office. From this report it would appear that the bed had been completely undermined by foxes and biscachas, and hence the mishap.

Engineer Seurot has left for Jujuy to inspect roads and bridges in that province.

As might have been foreseen, an express train of the WesternLine went off the track yesterday morning near Caballito. Happily no one was hurt, but passengers were delayed, the whole traffic movement was upset, and everything was upside down. "Quosque tandem."

The gross returns of the Argentine Geoat Western last February were 119,693$, and the working expenses almost 170,000$. The kilometrage covered in January was 1,282,032.

The kilometrage covered by the Pacific Line in February was 1,176,945. That of the Central Argentine in January and February was 4,058,897.

Government has approved the tracing of the line from San Juan to Cabra-Corral for the first 100 kilometres.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The floods up country and over the water claimed great attention yesterday. Matters are so very bad at Gualeguaychu that Government had to send up help. Letters and telegrams from the Santa Fe colonies say that these last rains and storms have all but "finished" many enterprising farmers. In Salto and Paysandu the flood is terrific. Perhaps the railways are the worst sufferers of all. From all parts there is the same news of injured earthworks, late trains, raging Inspectors, maddened managers, fines and the rest or it.

We are glad to learn that next week we shall have a visit from H.M. ships on the station, and a cricket match will be played at Palermo on Thursday, the 18th, between an eleven of the B.A.C.C. and an eleven from the ships. There is sure to be a large attendance on the ground to witness this match.

As will be seen by the telegram we received last night from "Our Special" in Montevideo, Mr. William Harley has succumbed to yellow fever. Mrs. Brelaz died yesterday in Montevideo.

We received most agreeable intelligence yesterday from Mr. Jenner, H. M. Chargé d'affaires, viz: That the Foreign Office has instructed him to do everything he can to assist British immigrants here. To this end Mr. Jenner has appointed a clerk for the purpose of opening a registry office, at which all immigrants can apply. We heard yesterday that some difficulty has arisen in respect to the settlement of the Irish immigrants, by the steamer Dresden, on the lands of the Sociedad Viticola, at Bahia Blanca. We hope it is not serious.

We thank Dr. L. A. Peyret for his kindness in sending us yesterday a copy of his valuable "Manual de Registro de Estudo Civil," a work of special interest and value just at present, when the new Marriage Law is on its trial.

The Prensa cites a case in which the Civil Registry Office refused to inscribe the name of an English child because the father stated that there was no equivalent for it in Spanish, and the clerk nearly broke his teeth in trying to pronounce it. There must be a good deal in a name sometimes, in spite of the Bard of Avon's opinion.

A San Luis paper announces that Mr. Peter Peñas has discovered a rich mine of gold and silver at Terneras, in Junin department. This is the most agreeable form of bimetalism possible. If nature had only thrown in a few diamonds, rubies and emeralds, this "Calves" mine would be perfect.

A colleague, who is an authority on everything in La Plata, says that Governor Paz is determined to stand no nonsense on the Centro Agricola line, and intends to keep everybody concerned up to their trumps, to the letter of the law. This is good, and we hope H. E. has not entered the field too late to undo the harm done by the profuse issue of cedulas in connection with these Centros. It is in this that the evil lies.

The Southern Railway is the only one in the country that can be said to lead a comfortable life. Mr. Sam Abbott manages to keep the dreaded Government Inspectors from his door, and there is not much fear of his being fined or arrested. In another column his latest manifesto will be found. The Southern Railway is evidently determined to keep in the van.

Some enterprising party has failed to induce the Minister of War, to invest 30,000, Nats. in an old steamer. H. E., it is said, smelt a rat, made inquiries, and at once refused to buy, although the Junta de Marina had a favourable opinion of the "vaporcito". A tailor is the worst judge in the world of correct dress.

Hot baths are not the least of life's luxuries in the bracing weather that has now set in. M. Cabanettes, whose Baths in Calle Balcarce are so largely patronized, has now started special Hot Baths, with a separate department for the fair sex. They are fitted up with every comfort.

Mrs. Terrier has succeeded in worrying damages and costs out of the Southern Railway for killing her spouse in a smash at Bahia Blanca. What the exact sum is we have n't heard; but it does n't matter to such a big company.

Preparations for President Tajes's visit to this country are already going on in the Government House, which is to be lighted by electricity for the grand occasion, and the whole place will be done up in "Oriental" style, a kind of round-the-world compliment, doubtless, to the Banda Oriental. A ball and banquet will also be given in the Government House. General ex-President Roca will command in chief at the grand review in Palermo Park. There are several other items on the programme, including a gala night at the Opera House, and President Tajes will also attend the Te Deum in the Cathedral on the 25th. The whole Argentine squadron will go down the river to meet the Uruguayan President and escort him into port.

Here's a hint for Buenos Ayres:—"Why not free baths in Winter? is the very pertinent question which the New York World is asking. Why not, indeed? Bathing is more essential to health in Winter than Summer, from the warmer clothing, the richer food and the lesser perspiration. Free Winter baths would be a powerful aid towards the better health of the city, worth many times their cost."

Telegrams from Rosario yesterday describe the railways as most seriously damaged by the floods. The colonies also, that of Providencia coming off worst. In Santiago province it has been raining nearly a week without cessation.

A "horrible" earthquake is announced as having taken place in Guayaquil, Ecuador, last month; but there does not appear to have been much horror about it, as not a soul was hurt, nor was there a house upset. Guayaquil houses are built with a special eye to earthquakes, so they rarely suffer, even when the earth is heaving like the sea.

Our diminutive colleague the Industria Nacional, of Rosario, says it has private information from this city to the effect that "something" is about to turn up that will put the gold premium down to 50 before the market has time to say Jack Robinson. The premium would be badly hurt if it got such a sudden cropper.

Ferrari's plans for the new City Theatre are finally accepted. He will push on the building like lubricated lightning, as President Juarez has expressed a wish to open it before he leaves office. Ferrari's architects declare that they will run it up in two years and a half.

A Year One business is reported from Navarro, where an ex-Mayor has been clapped into jail between night and morning, by order of his successor. It is a question about some town lands held by a venerable resident for years, but now "denounced" as town property. This "denouncing" buisness causes more vigorous denunciation on the part of the victims than any other loose screw in our laws.

A London paper has gone to the trouble of picking out and publishing the numerous instances of learned counsel being utterly baffled on the Times-Parnell trial by the wit and astuteness of the Irish witnesses. Here is one of the funniest:—

"Now, sir," said counsel, "you bought some hay, and a shot was sent into your house because you would not give it up. Did you give it up after the shot was fired?"

"I did that."

"Did you get your money back?"

"Sorra a bit."

"How was that?"

"I don't know."

"Do you mean to say you didn't try?"

"Sure, an' I did not."

"Why not?"

"I don't know."

"What did you pay for the hay?"

"Is it phwat I paid for the hay?"

"Yes."

"Begorra!" with a sly wink, "I paid nothing at all!"

THE SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

The following report of the Manager of this Company, recommending important reductions in the freight charges and also notable improvements in the general service of the line has been laid before the Minister of Public Works of the Province by the Local Board. We understand that the recommendations of the Manager have already been approved by the Directors:—

Southern Railway, Manager's Office
B. Aires, March 22nd

William White, Esq., President of the Local Board

My dear Sir,

In compliance with your instructions and the memorandum of Mr. Barker dated March 11th, I have the pleasure to lay before you a Report on the proposed revision of the tariffs of this company and the several important changes which I advise the Directors to make for the improvement of the service and the benefit of the public at large.

As a preamble I may be allowed to observe that the great development of the production and resources of this country, the progress of which is so rapid, enables me now to propose important reductions in the charges for goods carriage, and if, as I anticipate, these reductions be found to stimulate traffic, I hope later on to be able to propose still further reductions, for the benefit of the public.

The capacity of a railway company to carry goods at reduced freights is necessarily in direct relation with the volume of traffic to be carried, and I entertain the hope that the increasing prosperity of the country will place the Company in a position not only to reduce the charges but to fully meet the requirements of the public by means of a liberal, convenient and punctual service.

I am informed that this progressive programme meets with the approval of the Directors, and it shall be for me both a duty and a pleasure to devote myself to carrying it out, while I remain at the head of the Administration.

Owing to the depreciation of the National currency this Company has been placed in an abnormal and disadvantageous position, as it has to pay interest on its capital in gold abroad, and also to pay in gold for coal and other materials required for working the line, as also freight for their transport to Buenos Ayres. Besides, the salaries of the employees had to be increased considerably owing to the reduced purchasing power of the National dollar.

Recognizing the pernicious effect that a depreciated currency must necessarily have on the interests of the Company, His Excellency the Governor, Dr. Don Dardo Rocha, in framing the contract with the Company, in 1882, fixing the maximum tariffs which the Southern Railway was authorized to impose, expressly stipulated that said tariffs might be calculated in gold. The Company, nevertheless, has not availed itself of the right established in the contract to change the maximum tariff, nor has it ever charged the full price in gold.

The recommendations which I now beg to submit for the consideration of the Board are the following:—

1st.—To reduce the increased charge made to meet the depreciation in the currency from 75 o/o premium to the general level of 50 per cent, arranged in such way as will be detailed later on, and which will probably have the effect of avoiding the frequent changes that are now such a source of inconvenience to the public.

2nd—To modify the classification of goods and the tariff for same,

3rd—To improve the general service for the public, making it complete in all respects, by increasing the number of trains and ensuring greater safety and more accommodation.

As regards the gold premium, I propose that, from 1st of July next the increase to be charged shall be as follows:—

When the premium does not exceed 20 per cent., the increase in the tariff to be only one half the premium. For instance: If gold is quoted at 112 the tariffs will be increased 6 per cent.

When the premium is over 20 but does not exceed 40 per cent., the tariffs will be increased 15 per cent on their nominal figure.

When the premium is over 40 but does not exceed 60, the increase will be 25 per cent.

The article published in to-day's Nacion on the gold question was the talk of the whole market, and was very much to the point, as it shews that the very same ill prevailed in the United States, and was aggravated by the same remedies as applied here, but more radical measures were eventually tried and with success. Our colleague also reproduces the amounts of gold exported during the nine days of the current month, summing up the terrible total of 3,289,287 dollars, with the timely remark that the magnitude of our gold exports now must cause qualms of anxiety to all who do not hold with the Minister that gold is an enemy to be exorcised.
It may be in point here to add that although in the market at large Minister Varela's honesty of purpose and moral bearing are unanimously conceded, his figures and conclusions are by many matured and experienced heads considered very erroneous. It is contended in the first instance that the passes in gold never gave 45 o|o as he said; in fact, half that percentage would be considered over the real mark; in the second place, he said the nation could get gold in Europe at 4½ o|o interest, which is blankly denied, and is not in consonance with the issue of the last loan; and thirdly and lastly, it is contended that the speculation in gold, instead of making the metal exorbitantly dear, as contended by the Minister, makes it cheap. This was the Minister's main plank, and it is on this view he was sustained by a large portion of the market. It must be acknowledged that all the foundation that the Minister has for sustaining this view is that month in month out, striking an average, the premium has gone up; but it is contended the premium would have gone up in any case, due to the acknowledged top-heavy state of the finances, and that the speculation hung on its heels, preventing it from spurting up points at a time; furthermore, that as a notorious rule the speculation was for a fall, parties selling gold cheaper than it stood for cash, paying out of their pockets for their temerity. Anyone with a month's experience of the Bolsa can see the justice of this, as it requires neither sophistry nor philosophy to shew that if an article is sold under its market value, the losers by the transaction are not the buyers nor the market generally, which gains, but the sellers alone. This is a much debated point in the market, and the foregoing are some of the ideas prevailing.

The great news of the day was that at a conference held yesterday by the Finance Minister and President of the Nat. Bank, it was resolved to take active measures to relieve the pressure in the gold market, and indeed matters were getting so serious that action has been taken none too soon. Gold to-day was quoted at 166.50 in the open market, and but for the measures alluded to, which preclude any liquidation pressure, an important factor in the advance, the premium to-day might possibly have reached 70 o|o. The two measures concerted are as follows: The Banco Nacional will provide all the gold required for the liquidation on the basis of the operations submitted to the Minister, the parties interested being required to present their petitions before Friday next at noon, stating therein the price they offer for gold, if to purchase, or the amount of paper they can give in guarantee, if a loan; the Bolsa liquidator will hand the bank the paper at end of month. The other measure is that the National Bank offers to sell to the market 200,000 daily until further notice, proposals to be submitted before 1 p.m. There is no doubt that the former measure must tend to keep the premium down, but with regard to the latter, the effect must be considered doubtful, as it will give rise to speculation. The Bank must naturally in its own interests give the preference to the highest bidder, and the bids will probably differ in points and not in cents, as might be the case were it determined to sell the specie at auction in small lots. However, the idea may give good results in practice, and a trial can do no harm.
The following were the rates of exchange quoted at the different banks to-day:—

Advices from Santa Fe announce that the storm has caused ravages all over the province with severe loss. The Salado bridge was carried away and the rivers all overflowed their banks. Railway traffic was paralyzed. No communication could be effected with the Colonies, and Galvez was the furthest station accessible by train.
Exchange brokers reported improved rates in the evening, bills being passed at 47d., 4.95-96 francs Paris, 4.99 francs Antwerp and 3.99 marks.
Business at the first hour was fairly brisk in the sovereign stock, which was in demand up to 258, at which it closed between buyers and sellers. La Plata Moles ruled also in demand, 2800 being bought up to 132.50 for end of month, whilst 136.50 was paid for end of May. Catalinas closed a trifle weaker at 151, but Constructors spurted up to 130 for cash and 132 end of month. Obligations have taken a stand at 14.50 cash and 15 end of month. Cedulas were steady and in fair demand, and the whole market shews improved tone.
The great feature of business to-day was the fall in gold which, quoted in the morning at 166½, fell during the day to 159 and closed between 160 and 161. This decline coincides with the appearance of the National Bank notices and it is hoped now that this favorable and most acceptable reaction will continue.
The revival in stocks to-day was another satisfactory feature of the improvement in the situation. The shares all showed buoyancy and firmness, and most of them realized higher quotations, especially the sovereign stock which was threatening a "degringolade." However, it was said by some brokers that the reaction was only attributable to the fact of the Bank having discounted heavily in paper, though the exact amount did not leak out. Four point passes in the sovereign stock are already being made, which is an unhealthy sign.
A decree has been issued authorizing Messrs. Medici and Co. to build the syphon in the Riachuelo, without regard to the proposed bridge.
Minister Pacheco has approved the plans for a bridge across the Rio Dulce in Santiago del Estero.
Business at the second hour shews that the improved feeling in stocks promises to continue. National Bank shares improved to 259 for end of month and closed with buyers at 258½, but for cash, strange to say, they fell off to 254, which gives a pass of 4½ points for the ½ of the month, a significantly high rate of interest. La Plata Moles were done up to 133 for end of month and 127½ for end of May. Catalinas fell off still further to 150 and Constructors were just a trifle weaker than in the morning at 125½ for to-morrow and 131½ for end of month. Obligaciones were steady and in demand, as also Cedulas.
The private banks still keep out of the money market, so that paper is still comparatively light.
Of the $200,000 gold offered by the National Bank, the appended amounts were taken up as follows:—

"Acting Appraiser Stearns says that little importance attaches to Judge Lacombe's decision that wool tops are subject to duty at the rate of sixty cents per pound. The Government has held this view of the matter, and this rate is so heavy that importations have been very small. If this claim had not been sustained and the rate of duty had been reduced one-half, of course the consequence to the trade would have been very material."
